EASTERN NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Forster Banquet in New York.

New York, June 19.—The Association of California Pioneers gave a banquet and reception this evening at the Sturtevant House to Hon. Philip [illegible] one of the society's ex-presidents, on the occasion of his first visit to the Atlantic coast since the spring of 1849. About sixty gentlemen were present to greet him. A large majority of them had reached it together during the early days of the Golden State. Gen. Gibson, U. S. A., president of the society, acted as chairman and made an address of [illegible] welcome, which was repeatedly interrupted with applause. Mr. [illegible] was unable [illegible] to reflect his appreciation [illegible] heartiness of the welcome he had received. The secretary read letters of regret from [illegible] Hon. Wm. M. Gwin, [illegible] Bret Harte, Mark Twain and others. Many toasts were given, speeches made, and it was a late hour before the genial company dispersed.

New York, June 20.—At the meeting of California Pioneers in this city last night after Gibson had made the Address of Welcome, Roach responded. Tears filled his eyes and his voice was [illegible] emotion which he tried hard to control. "[illegible]" said he, "I have lived in California and I have not often been [illegible] by surprise as I lose my speech. [illegible] has surprised me to that extent. He has recalled memories and awakened [illegible] in my heart that check utterance. I [illegible] many of the men who assisted in [illegible] I see the first editor; I see the [illegible] my mind wanders back to the time [illegible] all brothers together. I feel twenty [illegible] to-night. Gentlemen, you [illegible] until I can collect my thoughts." [illegible] Roach sat down amidst [illegible] that quite frightened the [illegible] and made it appear that the guests were [illegible] pioneers instead of quiet and [illegible] men.

[illegible] Clark next read many letters [illegible] Gen. Joe Hooker sent his greetings and regret. [illegible] regretted that a recent [illegible] to West Point made it impossible for him to [illegible] at this time. Col. Burton, Mr. Edward [illegible] and Mark Twain likewise sent their regrets. [illegible] was read from Sam. S. Upham extending [illegible] to write an appropriate [illegible] to the air of "Auld Lang Syne," to be sung at the grand reunion of Californians which is to be [illegible] Philadelphia on the 9th of September, which [illegible] with applause.

[illegible] followed fast and furious. [illegible] the first California editor and one of [illegible] of the Alta Californian, made one of [illegible] in which he referred to thousands of [illegible] to the memory of his listeners. He recalled [illegible] of Bob Semple, who thought Call [illegible] too much, and of old Bob Far[illegible] the table off in roars of laughter. The [illegible] at table until a late at night, gazing at [illegible] telling tales of long ago and [illegible] present and future prosperity of the [illegible]

[illegible] the guests were noticed John Sickles, [illegible] Thomas D. Jones, John A. Godfrey, William Walton, Col. James E. Nutt, [illegible] Hager, James Curtis, F. C. Kemble, [illegible] Butler, H. B. Hawkins and others.

The questions affecting the district between [illegible] and Rio Verde are to be referred to the arbitration of President Grant, while it was stipulated that the Argentine territory should be evacuated by Brazil within five months.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Immense Ratification Meeting at Washington.

Washington, June 19.—Immense mass meeting in this city to-night to ratify the Cincinnati nominations. [illegible] Gen. Grant, [illegible] were present, [illegible] Secretary Fish, Secretary Frelinghuysen and Oglesby, [illegible] Chandler, Treasurer New, Gen. [illegible] and many other prominent persons. The meeting was presided over by [illegible] by Senator Morton, Frelinghuysen, Oglesby, [illegible] and Butler. The speeches all gave unqualified approval to the nominations. [illegible] Cowell, Senator Conkling and Secretary Bristow expressing their cordial approval of the nominations. Butler said he desired to repel the [illegible] upon Massachusetts. At the convention the delegates said they would only vote for one man. He would say that there would be a larger majority for any man's candidate but that [illegible] The speaker regretfully alluded to the [illegible] in favor of hard money and in the national [illegible] not stop to quarrel over minor questions of policy. He might differ from some of his political friends on some of the questions, but he was content to the oar and trust for a better hope and every prayer. In the Southern [illegible] sleep in his own cabin as well [illegible] protect as he could in Massachusetts. [illegible] to his personal knowledge of Hayes his political principles [illegible] and is a man of [illegible] upon the principles of the Republican party. He concluded with saying, "Popular education is the hope of the Republic. I trust that the time is not far distant when all the people will acquiesce in sustaining the common schools and when they will [illegible] ask a division of the school fund will [illegible] to the genius of Republicanism and be satisfied to give religious instruction and enjoy religious worship in the family and in the church, while the state, with sovereign impartiality will perform its great duty of making education universal through the best system of common schools the world ever saw."

After the adjournment of the meeting at the City Hall the assemblage proceeded to the residence of Blaine, who was met with the most intense manifestations of favor. He addressed the crowd as follows: "Fellow Republicans: The condition of my health forbids that I should address you at length and I fear my voice may fail to reach a considerable portion of the large crowd to which I am so indebted for the compliment of this call. Let me say in brief that I heartily join with you in ratifying the nomination of Hayes and Wheeler. I know both of the candidates well and have known them long. They are true and tried honest and competent, strong and popular. I do not believe it was possible for the National Convention to present a more acceptable ticket to the great mass of American voters, and I have no doubt of its triumphant election in November. To that result your efforts and mine will I am sure be devoted with most earnest zeal. If I may be permitted to refer to the connection of my own name with the Republican nomination let me say to you that I look back upon it with pride and satisfaction—with not only tinge of regret at the final result. I owe much to the true friends who so faithfully supported me and I am sure that I do not entertain the slightest feeling of unkindness toward those who opposed me. I hope I can go further and say that out of all the fierce conflicts of the past half year I do not at this moment cherish a trace of ill will or uncharitable feeling towards any political rival or any political opponent. Let us look forward hopefully to the future for peace and prosperity of the American people, wisely guided by a Republican administration of government which shall be just to all sections and all citizens of our own common country. Thanking you again, gentlemen, for the honor of your call I bid you a cordial good night."

The President Endorses the Nominations.

Grant made a speech to-night in endorsement of Hayes and Wheeler to serenaders from a ratification meeting at the city hall who, after paying Blaine the compliment of a visit, directed their course to the White House, on the balcony of which the President soon appeared and, in response to the music of the Marine band and the cheers of the crowd when an opportunity was offered him by the first lull in the noisy demonstration he said: "Gentlemen, after all the speaking that you and I have listened to to-night for I was with you at your ratification meeting you cannot wish even if I was a speaker to hear anything from me, but I cannot withhold my approval of the excellent ticket given you by the National Republican Convention at Cincinnati. It is a ticket that should receive the cordial support of all races in all sections. I know Governor Hayes personally and I can surrender with unfeigned pleasure my present position to him, as I believe that I shall do on the 4th of March next with guaranteed security for your rights and liberties under the laws. Good night."

The Appropriation Bill.

The Tribune's Washington correspondent draws a startling picture of what may be the result if the appropriation bill is not finally passed by both houses in less than ten days. The features are that our ministers and consuls abroad will be recalled, the army annihilated and the postal service stopped.

The Caldwell Telegrams.

The Times Washington special says: Whatever now may be thought of the Caldwell telegram transaction, these dispatches will not have the effect they would have had if Blaine had been the candidate. His friends claim that it was perfectly proper for him to ask Caldwell to corroborate Scott, as he was the only man that could do it. [illegible] grim abroad and [illegible] the genuine [illegible] of Caldwell's first dispatch, which had been doubted.

The Herald's editorial writer thinks the Caldwell dispatches make up an infamous affair, in which Blaine's friends were mixed up [illegible] with his own consent, and that the Republican party is to be congratulated that Blaine is not [illegible] nomination for the Presidency. The Herald's Washington dispatch says the Democrats acknowledge that the Republicans have a strong ticket.

The Herald's Washington correspondent thinks by action of the Senate to-day Congress will remain in session till September. He also [illegible] Caldwell's dispatch to a [illegible] and placing [illegible] in a very sorrowful [illegible] It is now plain how Blaine knew just when and how Knott received the Caldwell dispatch. The committee have other important evidence on the subject.

Efforts to Repeal the Resumption Act.

The committee on banking have agreed to report Goode's bill which repeals so much of the specie resumption act as directs the Secretary of the Treasury to redeem in coin on or after January 1, 1879, all U. S. legal tender notes then outstanding on their presentation for redemption, and also so much of the same act as authorizes the use of any surplus revenue or issue, sale or disposal of any bonds to provide for such redemption. Payne has prepared a section which will also be reported providing for the setting aside by the government of $15,000,000 in coin annually as a resumption fund. This section will be resisted by soft money men in committee and if successful permission will be asked to offer an amendment.

It is said an attempt will be made on Wednesday in the banking and currency committee to adopt some measure looking to the repeal of the resumption act. Cox and Payne think the repeal would help Thurman or Hendricks, but the hard money Democrats are not alarmed at this movement. They say that if the resumption act is repealed in the House it must be by the union of the Republicans and Democrats. If the Republicans vote with the Democrats in that case it will so far put the Republicans in the wrong as to make the nomination of two hard money Democrats possible and advisable at St. Louis. It is very probable that the St. Louis convention will re-adopt the currency [illegible] of the Cincinnati convention. They can do [illegible] without it going over to Ohio and soft money.

The Republicans consider the resolution concerning the granting of money [illegible] as the most telling part of their platform, but that also may be adopted at St. Louis.

Bluford Wilson Resigns.

Washington, June 20.—Bluford Wilson, Solicitor for the Treasury Department, [illegible] his resignation to-day.

Treasurer New Resigns.

Washington, June 20.—Treasurer New has written a letter of resignation to take effect from July 1st, and will hand it to the President to-day.

A special from Washington says [illegible] Morrill of Maine has been tendered the position of Secretary of the Treasury, but has not yet accepted.

Failed to Agree.

The jury in the case of Chas. G. [illegible] ex-assistant [illegible] after being [illegible] papers failed to agree and has been discharged. They stood 7 for conviction and [illegible] acquittal.

Post-Trader's Investigation.

Washington, June 20.—Gen. [illegible] appeared before Clymer's committee to-day and testified that at the house in San Antonio, Texas, a bill to have been presented to him by [illegible] contract [illegible] was in reality presented by the citizens of San Antonio. The transaction was [illegible] known in [illegible] [illegible] in the papers. He has not kn[illegible] the names of any of the sixty contributors. He had entertained [illegible] the Inspector General of the army [illegible] and they fully understood the circumstances of his possession of it. He had been tendered property [illegible] three times as much, [illegible] by citizens of Austin [illegible] the army [illegible] were in San Antonio [illegible] [illegible] on the part of the people among whom he had lived for several years.

Morrill to be the next Secretary of the Treasury.

Washington, June 20.—There is current rumor among a few Senators and others [illegible] that the President has tendered [illegible] Secretary of the Treasury to [illegible] Morrill of Maine and that the latter has the matter now under consideration. Morrill will neither affirm or deny the correctness of the report, but it is believed to be true.

Legislation on Silver.

The silver bill introduced in the Senate to-day makes silver coins of [illegible] and [illegible] cents value a legal tender for ten dollars, and smaller coins to the extent of five dollars. The new silver dollars to be coined are made legal tender for [illegible] dollars. Silver bullion in bars stamped by mints with their true weight and fineness and [illegible] are to be made legal tenders for their [illegible] of all [illegible] according to their [illegible] [illegible] with the present [illegible] standard [illegible] the value of [illegible] [illegible] and the U. S. Treasurer. The [illegible] [illegible] to issue certificates [illegible] bar at [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] or that it may be purchased by [illegible] set bullion [illegible]

Nominations by the President.

The President to-day nominated Jas. A. W[illegible] son of Iowa, commissioner of the General Land Office; James Davis, [illegible] for the Southern [illegible] New Mexico.

Increase of the Naval Appropriation Bill.

The Senate committee on appropriations are [illegible] on the naval appropriation bill today [illegible] posed to increase the various items [illegible] from the amount voted by the House [illegible] as it the employment of men during [illegible] November was entirely stricken out.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Senate.

Washington, June 20.—The Chair laid before the Senate a communication from the Treasury enclosing an answer to the Senate resolution of February last. It is a lengthy report showing the names of all persons now or heretofore in the public services for whom balances are due to the government, the amounts due from such persons, the number of unsettled accounts, amounts of stock sold by the United States in trust, etc. The list of such stock where default has been made.

Sherman from the committee on finance reported favorably on the House joint resolution authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to issue $10,000,000 in silver coin in exchange for legal tender notes and asked for its present consideration. Objection was made by Morton and it was laid over.

Sherman gave notice he would call it up to-morrow.

Wright reported a bill providing for the appointment of a commission to revise the the [illegible] tions of the several statutes as to bankruptcy, and recommended legislation thereon. Placed on the calendar. He also reported back from the same committee the House bill to repeal the bankrupt law and to recommend that it be postponed until the first day of next session. So ordered.

Sargent from the committee on appropriations reported back the naval appropriation bill with amendments, and gave notice he would call it up for consideration as soon as the Indian appropriation should be disposed of. Placed on calendar.

The Senate then resumed the consideration of the Indian appropriation bill.

Windom in charge of the bill said as it came from the House it appropriated $10[illegible] The Senate committee on appropriations had added $9[illegible]

The various amendments recommended by the committee were agreed to, except the one increasing the incidental expenses from $[illegible] to $[illegible] The committee reported in favor of striking out the section of the House bill which abolishes the office of Commissioner of Indian Affairs, as well as the offices of superintendent, agents, interpreters, inspectors, &c., and provides for the government of the Indians by the War Department.

The Senate went into executive session and took a recess until evening.

In the Senate evening session several speeches were made and a bill reported to the Senate, but without action on it the Senate adjourned.

House.

Willard reported a bill to prevent the sale and use of adulterated and explosive illuminating oils. Passed.

Lawrence reported a bill relating to land patents. It provides that whenever a party is lawfully entitled to a patent it shall have the same power as though issued at the time the party was first entitled to it. Also a bill providing that every person properly qualified shall be admitted to practice in any court without regard to sex. Laid on the table.

McCreery reported a bill to require service of process in the United States in certain cases. It provides that whenever service of process against any corporation cannot be made by reason of the fact that the officer on whom by the law of such State service is to be made has resigned or cannot be found, service may be made on any officer or agent of the corporation. Passed. Also a bill to provide for the appointment of additional circuit commissioners and to prevent oppression. It directs the judges of circuit courts to appoint commissioners in every county who shall give a hearing to any person arrested for violation of United States law when he shall be entitled to such hearing. Passed.

Also in relation to judgment liens. It provides that the judgments and decrees of the U. S. courts for the payment of money shall be liens on the real estate of the debtor. Passed.

[illegible] reported a bill fixing the time of the redemption of lands sold by decrees and judgments in chancery. It provides that whenever real estate shall be sold on judgments and decrees in chancery the same rights shall be allowed for redemption as is allowed by the statutes of the State. Passed.

Douglass, chairman on the Freedman's Bank, made a report as to the payment of moneys due colored soldiers, sailors and marines. The report says the provision for payment has been partly defeated by the fraudulent contrivance of the bureau of refugees and the disbanding of colored lands, also that the settlement covering these delinquent claims had been filled with the treasury by Gen. Howard and Gen. Ballock, to which fraudulent vouchers and other false evidence of payment have been filed, and used by these officers by which they obtained improper credits for money alleged to have been paid. Tarbox reported [illegible] bill directing the treasury to pay the colored soldiers, sailors and marines [illegible] circumstances and bring all persons implicated [illegible] the fraud to justice. After the debate in which Hoar and Kasson defended Howard, from the aspersions, the bill and correspondence were ordered printed and recommitted.

Randall reported the sundry civil appropriation bill ordered printed. The bill appropriates $11,[illegible] 58, against $[illegible] in the corresponding bill of last year.

The House then proceeded to the consideration of the bill equalizing bounties of soldiers and was addressed by Throckmorton in favor of it. It allows to all enlisted men, soldiers, sailors and marines, including slaves and Indians, $8 per month for their service between the 12th of April 1861 and the 9th of May 1865, deducting all bounties already paid under United States or State laws. The bill is not to apply to subordinates, men who were prisoners of war at the time of enlistment or men who were discharged on their own application or for other cause than disability incurred in the service prior to the 12th of April 1865, unless such discharge was obtained with a view to re-enlist or on account of promotion or persons discharged on the ground of minority. All applications for bounties under this bill are to be filed within five years. The bill requires the expenditure of between nine and ten million dollars. It was passed [illegible] against [illegible]

The Speaker laid before the House a message from the President in relation to the extradition treaty with England and the refusal of that government to comply with its provisions in the cases of Winslow and Brent based on an act of Parliament passed in 1870 and setting at liberty both the fugitives from justice. The President regards this as abrogation, and unless [illegible] the treaty and does not think it would comport with the dignity and self-respect of this government to make any demands on the English government for the surrender of fugitive criminals or to entertain any request of that character from that Government. BAPTIST S. S. CONVENTION.

Salem, June 19, 1876.

According to previous announcement, the Baptist State Sunday School Convention of Oregon convened at the Baptist church in Salem under the direction of Rev. J. C. Baker, Sunday school missionary for the Pacific coast, as conductor.

A very interesting address of welcome was given by Rev. Addison Jones, pastor of the Baptist church at Salem, which was responded to by Rev. J. C. Baker in a short but very appropriate address.

After singing, short addresses were made by Revs. Bradford and Hopkins of Southern Oregon relative to the Sunday school work in that part of the State.

After the convention sang "Rescue the Perishing," etc., Rev. L. Russ of McMinnville, was called upon, who gave, in a short address of about eight minutes, an interesting account of Sunday school work in the Willamette Association. He reported that there were schools at The Dalles, Oregon City, Salem and Portland churches which belonged to the Association. He thought that there was a growing interest manifested in the work throughout the Association, and hoped that it would continue. This was followed by the reading of a part of a psalm by Bro. Harvey Hill, and prayer by Rev. Sterling Hill. A history of the work in the Central Association was then given by Rev. A. J. Hunsaker, of Albany, who said only three churches in that Association, numbering 22 churches, reported Sunday schools. He was afraid that some of the brethren there might in some respects be called "Monthly Christians," an appellation which he had heard given by some one. He very much regretted to make this report of the largest Association in the State in numbers, as well as in territory. He closed by expressing the hope that more interest would be manifested by all in this great work everywhere.

After prayer by Rev. C. W. Rees, of Eugene City, Rev. — Davenport of Southern Oregon was introduced by the conductor as one who was doing a little evangelizing work of his own on there and whom he was certain the convention would like to hear. He said the work to which he desired to call the attention of the convention was the Bible, and the point was Bible work. Told a touching incident of a lady in California who gave the only money she possessed—which had been given to her by her little girl upon her dying bed—for the purpose of sending the Bible to the destitute. This speaker manifested an earnestness in the cause that seemed to be communicated to all present. This was followed by the conductor and a song entitled "Long time I wandered [illegible]"

Mrs. Huff of Oregon City was then called upon, and she gave one of the most interesting addresses of the evening, giving an account of the work there and urging all to work more earnestly in this noble calling. This address was listened to with good attention as it deserved to be.

Prof. Mark Bailey read Matt. 7, chap. 7-11, which was followed by prayer by the conductor; song, "O think of the house over there," etc., and adjourned to meet to-morrow at 9:30 A. M. Benediction by the Rev. J. C. Richardson, of Oakland.
DELEGATE.

THE TERRITORIES.

A few days ago two men named Frenchy and Martin met in the Tukton mountains near Walla Walla and indulged in an altercation resulting in Frenchy drawing a derringer. No shots were fired.

Rube Robbins has been awarded the following contracts for Fort Boise: 40,000 lbs of barley, 50,000 lbs of hay and 35,000 lbs of straw. Peter Sonna has been awarded the contract for 400 cords of wood at $8 75.

Experienced persons estimate that the surplus crop for shipment in Walla Walla valley this year will be equal to 1,000,000 bushels. Evidently there will be work for the railroad and all the teams in the country.

Several men are working busily in removing the jams in the Skagit river. They secure a great many good logs, but not enough to pay for their labor, so subscription papers are circulating to secure funds to enable them to continue the work.

Olive Logan on Hair Dressing.—Olive Logan writes: Girls attend to your coiffure. No matter how simple your dress is look out for your capillary adornments and all will be well. Avoid if possible all false hair; though the fine corkscrew curls ventilated scratches and bogus bangs look well enough on the stage or under a veil, but they give age when the bearer is subjected to close inspection. A tiny little lock of your own hair snipped off at the top of your nose's bridge and rolled up in a ring, with a hairpin at night will make a pretty little curly fringe across your forehead in the morning, and will never be noticed even if the fashion changes and you want to brush the short locks back with the rest. Comb up the back hair as high as you can without dragging your arms out of their sockets, encircle the top of your cranium with a smoothly brushed and neatly plaited braid and in the vicinity of its adherence which this performance creates stick a high comb or a voluminous bow and you have a coiffure—which if not so stunningly dressy as some hair artist might build, is still thoroughly lady like, inevitably becoming, and indisputably comme il faut.

Thus talks an old farmer about his boys: From sixteen to twenty they knew more than I did; at twenty-five they knew as much; at thirty they were willing to hear what I had to say; at thirty-five they asked my advice; and I think when they get to be forty they will acknowledge that the old man does know something.

Ratification Meeting at Oakland.

Oakland, June 19.—Pursuant to a call of the county central committee, the Republicans of Oakland assembled this evening on Broadway to ratify the nomination of Hayes and Wheeler. The familiar bonfires, once more burning on the street corners, the firing of fire rockets and martial music of brass bands gathered together a very large and enthusiastic crowd. The meeting was called to order by J. J. Porter, chairman of the Republican county committee, who nominated Hon. E. B. Pardee as President of the meeting and a long list of leading citizens as Vice Presidents. Mayor Pardee in a few remarks, opened the campaign in Alameda county, and predicted she would give a larger Republican majority than had ever been known before. Several prominent citizens followed in spirited addresses. From the interest evinced at this first meeting of the campaign it promises to be exceedingly lively this summer.

Fire.

San Francisco, June 20.—About 10 minutes before 1 this morning a fire was discovered in the upper story of the Bay sugar refinery, a huge seven story brick building on the corner of Battery and Union streets. Despite the efforts of the entire department, which was promptly on the ground, the fire ate down from story to story until the whole building was a mass of flames and its destruction complete. The refinery was owned by an incorporated company, Herman Mees president, and has a refining capacity of 12,000 tons annually. Loss about $350,000, insured for $235,000. The building sustained considerable damage by fire several months ago. The fire patrol spread their covers to protect the goods, but the rapid progress of the flames rendered their efforts fruitless, and a number of covers were obliged to be abandoned. While attempting to get the streams in the upper windows, the chains of the Hayes truck struck a ladder, which gave way and several firemen were precipitated to the ground, but sustained no serious injury.

Fatal Fall.

Mathew Benscher, a native of Alsace, 26 years of age, employed as a maltster at the National Brewery, corner of Fulton and Webster streets, fell through the hatchway from the third floor to the basement, a distance of 24 feet, and was instantly killed.

The Central Pacific Law Suit.

San Francisco, June 20.—In the fight now going on between the directors of the Central Pacific and the small stockholders of the company, the latter to-day scored an important point. Judge Morrison of the fourth district court, this morning granted the petition of Anthony Coolot, a stockholder, for an order of court restraining the directors of the C. P. Co. from using the money of that corporation to pay interest on the bonds to the amount of sixteen hundred thousand dollars issued by the California Pacific and endorsed by the C. P. Co. In rendering the decision, the court gave as its opinion that in guaranteeing the payment of the bonds the C. P. Co. undertook to do an act it had no power to do and the act was not binding on the corporation.

Rudolph, alias Diamond Blumberg, arrested for obtaining bonds under false pretences in Washington, was released Saturday on filing bonds to the amount of $20,000.

Died of his Wounds.

Dixon, June 20.—Dr. Mathews, who was stabbed by Pat Riley Sunday evening, died of his wounds to-day.

Insane.

Los Angeles, June 20.—Tregoa, a young man of apparent intelligence and respectability, who came a passenger on the Orizaba, became violently insane on the trip and had to be placed under duress. He had a considerable sum of money on his person and Captain Johnson took the money from him for safe keeping. He made several attempts to commit suicide by pistoling himself and by jumping overboard, but was prevented. He was brought to this city and placed in the lockup for safety. Sheriff Alexander has written to his uncle in San Francisco, who appears to be, from letters found on his person, one Santiga Altna.

A Republican club was organized last night.

Wheat Crop.

The wheat farmers are now threshing, and the crop will begin to make its appearance in market about the first of July. One of our leading merchants estimates the wheat crop of the county at between 70,000 and 80,000 sacks and this estimate is considered low. Barley is coming in in large quantities. It is quoted at 7½ cents by wholesale dealers here.

Honey is now arriving in large quantities from the apiaries.

Constable Shot.

Santa Ana, June 20.—Constable Tithman was shot and dangerously wounded at about 5 o'clock this evening by a desperado named Minores while attempting to arrest him. The ball entered the inside of the thigh just below the groin and ranged downward passing out just above the knee. Minores being on horse back at the time easily escaped. A posse is now in pursuit. Tithman, though faint, is resting quite easy.

Arrest of a Fugitive from Justice.

San Francisco, June 20.—United States Detective [illegible] this morning arrested Herman Harris at Mowhawk valley in the northern part of the State as a fugitive from justice from Charleston, Missouri, where he was a merchant. He is charged with being a defrauding creditor to the amount of $30,000. He has applied for release on a writ of habeas corpus.

NEVADA.

Loss by the Virginia City Fire.

Virginia City, June 20.—It is now estimated that $20,000 will cover the loss by yesterday's fire. John Shirley, a miner working in the Con. Virginia mine, was very badly burned while endeavoring to save his trunk. He is now lying at the company's hospital in a critical condition. The general opinion is that the city would have been destroyed but for the new city water works. Thieves were very active during the fire and got away with a good deal of plunder.

OREGON AT THE CENTENNIAL.

Washington, D. C., June 10, 1876.

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

The visitor at Philadelphia has every reason to be proud of the display Oregon makes. Our products attract very general attention. It is universally conceded that in the line of agricultural display Oregon has superior rank at the Exposition. Citizens of our State who visited the rooms in Portland where the articles were stored preparatory to packing for shipment to Philadelphia may rest assured that no samples of grains, fruits, etc., equal to these can be found in any collection here. Oregon wheat especially attracts notice. This is not to be wondered at when comparison is made with wheat from other States, as well as from distant [illegible] of the world. The famous wheat from O[illegible] is in appearance much inferior to Oregon's. It would make an Oregonian smile to see the grain in the straw brought from some of the States, and shown there as remarkable specimens of agricultural fertility. In all respects it is far below the average of entire fields of wheat in Oregon. To show our people that what I am saying is not the mere rhapsody of an enthusiastic Oregonian, I append a paragraph from a Philadelphia correspondence of the Omaha Republican. Let it be remembered that the State of Nebraska is an active rival of ours in seeking to attract population. The writer says:

In the exhibit of products, Oregon, among the States really takes the lead. It makes the best showing and attracts altogether the most attention. This magnificent exhibit has been secured by individual enterprise largely by one man, who has gone down into his own pocket to the amount of $5,000. The name of this liberal and enterprising citizen is Mr. A. J. Dufur. The whole expense amounts to $10,000, some of which is expected to be refunded by appropriations hereafter to be made. But whether made or not, the far-off State of Oregon has made the best exhibit at this Exposition. The display consists of preserved and dried fruits, grain in the straw, sack and jar, samples of wool on card and fleece, flax seed, straw and lint, timber, showing size and adaptability for ships and houses, also for cabinet work, flora and fauna, grasses and ferns, canned salmon from Columbia river; and many other products which go to represent a State where nature has bestowed its bounties with a lavish hand. Massachusetts has expended $50,000 in her representation, which stands just across the passage way from Oregon, yet but very few are attracted thereby. New Hampshire joins on the south, and is scarcely noticed, except the old plow made by Daniel Webster and the stuffed skin of a Cheshire white hog. This exhibit from Oregon will be a greater benefit to the State in the way of inducing emigration than could have been gained by expending $100,000 in advertising and emigration agents.

Now I want to add that there is urgent need of more money to sustain this exposition which is doing so much to [illegible] the reputation of our State. Mr. Dufur is really in close straits for money. Will not the enterprising citizens of Oregon come to his relief? Three thousand dollars ought to be furnished from Oregon during the next few months, will not our people take hold of it? Consider the great good which will follow an outlay of this sort, simply as a productive investment for our State. Will not Oregon respond?

OREGON.

Last Saturday, Mr. Wm. Osborne, of Albany, who has been suffering with tuberculosis of the knee joint, or white swelling, had his left leg amputated about eight inches above the knee.

The Jacksonville Times says: Judge Tolman, vice president of the Siskiyou County Agricultural Society, handed us this week a programme of the eleventh annual fair of that society which will commence at Yreka, October 10th.

Several houses south of Salem were entered last Saturday by burglars, during absence of the families, who succeeded in getting away with about $25 in coin, a gold watch, a chain, a suit of clothes and some other valuables. Two men have been arrested on suspicion, and are now in jail at Salem awaiting a preliminary examination.

A Jacksonville exchange learns from F. L. Mace, who returned from Galice creek last week where he has been in the employ of the English Mining Company for some months, that the company had suspended work on the Thoss claim on account of the scarcity of water. He states that the company intend running a ditch this summer from the Reed diggings to these claims—a distance of about three miles—which will enable them to work the claims throughout the year.

A heart rending accident occurred near Turner's Station last Saturday. Mr. Wade, who lives near Cold Springs, had been attending a Good Templar picnic at that place with his family, and when starting for home, in turning the wagon round it cramped and raised the body up. Mrs. Wade was sitting on the seat beside her husband, and he caught her in time to save her from falling out, but she lost her hold of the child in her arms, a little girl aged one year, and it fell to the ground, the wheels passing over it, injured it so that it died in about three hours.

Last summer a man by the name of Walker Harper located in Indian Valley, in Union county, and soon after sent for his wife and child, who were living in Hickory county, Missouri. It was soon afterward ascertained that he was a fugitive from justice, an indictment resting against him in Missouri charging him with an assault with intent to kill. A warrant was issued by Gov. Grover and placed in Sheriff Curtis' hands authorizing his arrest. Mr. Curtis made one or two attempts to cause his arrest, but the fugitive eluded his vigilance. Last week on Friday E. B. Moorlock and J. W. Norville, acting under authority of Sheriff Curtis, succeeded in arresting Harper. They took him to the house of N. Baker, Harper's uncle, and placed him under guard, ironed and handcuffed. During the night the prisoner succeeded in removing his irons, and securing a six shooter, made his escape, since which time he has not been heard from.

RECONSTRUCTION.

In a wagon made of willow
Wheeled I one little maiden,
Ringlets shining on the pillow—
Lolling homeward treasure laden,
Like a boat upon the billow.

Ten years fled. Ah! how I missed her
When we left the village school!
But she said she'd be my sister
As we lingered by the pool.
And I passionately kissed her!

Ten more fretting years renew it—
Little wagon made of willow!
Loving eyes are bent to view it
Loving hands adjust the pillow—
And we've fitted rockers to it!

Some Eccentricities.—Avoid as far as possible those weaknesses which diminish respect for character. This will be very difficult. Most men have some great follies about them. The greatest are not exceptions. Tycho Brahe lost his color and trembled at the sight of a fox or hare. Dr. Johnson would never enter a room with his left foot foremost. Julius Cæsar fled to the cellars at the sound of thunder. Peter the Great could not be persuaded to cross a bridge. Marshal Saxe screamed at the sight of a cat. Byron would never help any one to salt. He would leave the table if any salt was spilled during the meal. A clergyman of the last generation could not pray with a dying person if a cat lay sleeping by the fire. Another greatly injured his usefulness by always wiping on the tablecloth the knives and forks before eating. Early in life is the time to find out and put away our foolish practices.

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

The Daily Oregonian.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JUNE 21, 1876.

WHY DID BRISTOW RESIGN?

The World, of New York, discusses the resignation of Secretary Bristow in a tone that reads remarkably well alongside of its remarks upon the Cincinnati nomination. On receipt of the intelligence that Hayes and Wheeler were nominated, the World spoke in complimentary terms of the ticket, even going so far as to say the high character and statesmanship of Wheeler was worthy of the best days of the Republic. But now, when the World feels called upon to attach some meaning to Bristow's retirement, other than the reason assigned by him, delivers itself in this oracular style:

Bristow recognizes the nomination of Hayes for what it is, a contemptuous dismissal of the question of administration reform from all places in the programme of party for the Presidential campaign. The failure of the Cincinnati Convention to nominate him is interpreted by him, as it must be interpreted by all candid and clear sighted persons of all parties whatever, as a deliberate endorsement of the principles and practices of Grantism. In this state of the case it is plainly impossible for Bristow, with anything like a decent show of self respect to retain his seat in the cabinet of President Grant.

That is to say, according to the World, the nomination by the Republicans of a set of candidates of national reputation for purity, and one of whom is worthy of the best days of the Republic, is an abandonment of all pretense of a purpose to administer the government by methods different from those which the World has been wont to denounce as inexpressibly vicious and corrupt. The World's views have not sufficient consistency to make them hang together.

It is well known that for some time past, and especially since the Babcock trial, the position of Secretary Bristow in the Cabinet has been an embarrassing one, and it is by no means improbable that fact may have exercised more or less influence in determining him to return to private life. But so far from indicating a disapproval of the nomination of Hayes and Wheeler, with which the Administration had nothing to do, and which is generally supposed to have been very much against the wishes of the President, the resignation of Bristow may with quite as much reason be interpreted as a measure to place himself in a position to give the ticket his hearty support without being trammeled by relations with those who will feel disposed to lend but nominal help in the election of the candidates. But it is more likely that the Presidential contest has had nothing whatever to do with the matter, except, possibly, to postpone the Secretary's resignation to a time when he could retire without subjecting himself to the suspicion of attempting to make capital for himself before the convention, by an exhibition of the want of cordiality between himself and Grant. Bristow must, at the very least, be credited with sagacity enough to avoid any act of open hostility to the Cincinnati nominees, after being himself a prominent candidate before the convention for the first place on the ticket; and that consideration alone ought to be a sufficient answer to the World's inferences.

THE FATE OF ABDUL AZIZ.

The murder of the Turkish Ministers by an officer of the Turkish army is said to have been caused by a desire on the part of the murderer to avenge the wrongs of the late Sultan, and strengthens the suspicion that that monarch's death was not the work of a suicide.

The crime of suicide is one almost unknown among the faithful followers of the Prophet, who are taught by the Koran to accept what comes calmly, as a decree of inevitable fate. Mahomet promised to his adherents an eternity of bliss after death, if death came naturally, or in battle against his enemies, but declared that no such reward awaited the man who put an end to his existence with his own hand. The object of Mahomet was to make his followers ardent in battle, and fearless of death—useful and devoted adherents, and to prevent the loss of a man's services by death self-imposed, for the joys to come. It is not likely that the Sultan, who was a true Turk, would have violated the law of the Koran and deliberately abandoned his hope of meeting the Houris in Paradise. To have done so he must have lost the faith of his fathers and must have been a man of more individuality than the world has given him credit for. But while there are strong reasons for believing it is not likely he would commit an act so uncommon among his people and so at variance with Turkish character and training, there is no positive evidence that he did do so. It is true that the Sultan is dead and that his death resulted from the effects of wounds whereby he bled to death. To this a number of surgeons testify. But these learned gentlemen do not tell us who inflicted the wounds. They either do not know, or find it prudent not to tell. In fact to have declared that Abdul Aziz was murdered, would have been a perilous thing to do in Constantinople about that time.

The late Sultan was a prince who cared only for his personal gratification. He had no ambition to live in history as a beneficent ruler, or powerful monarch. He made no effort either to improve the condition of the country over which he ruled, or to extend its boundaries. He gave himself up solely to the gratification of his passions and loved to linger at table, and dally in the seraglio. It was difficult to induce him to listen to the reports of his ministers, or to give audience to the representatives of foreign nations. He was the richest man in his dominions and the largest holder of the national indebtedness. When he was deposed he was provided with a most luxurious palace and all that he had ever had to gratify his taste and passions. There was nothing to impel him to self-destruction, but the sting of thwarted ambition or bitterness of disappointed hopes—and neither of these he was the man to feel. He had always lived like an animal and was able to continue to do so.

On the other hand the ancient custom of the Turks had been not only to slay deposed monarchs, but even for the successor of a Sultan who had had the rare good fortune to die a natural death, to kill all the kith and kin of the late lamented ruler, who by any possibility might be set up by a rebellious faction as a rival, and the Turks still have great reverence for ancient customs. In no case has a deposed Sultan long survived the loss of his throne. If Abdul Aziz had lived, he would have been considered by many Turks as their rightful monarch, and there never could have been any assurance of quiet and peace in Turkey. He would have been the head of all the unruly and discontented, who would have made his wrongs the excuse for stirring up endless strife. Hence it was specially desirable that he should be out of the way and not much doubt can be felt that means were found to do it decently.

RUTHERFORD B. HAYES.

The following sketch of Rutherford B. Hayes, Republican candidate for President of the United States, appeared in Harper's Weekly soon after his election as Governor of Ohio:

For the third time the people of Ohio have elected the Hon. Rutherford B. Hayes to the Governorship of that State. Though still young, he has had a large and varied experience in public life, both military and civil. He served with distinction during the war, received rapid promotion for brilliant services, and on the conclusion of peace left the army with the rank of brigadier general. But he was not long permitted to remain in retirement, for soon after his return from the field he was elected to Congress from the second district of Ohio by a large majority. Before his term of service expired, in 1867, General Hayes was elected Governor of the State, and re-elected in 1869. His opponent was Senator Thurman, the most popular Democratic leader in Ohio. The canvass was hotly contested, and the Republican majority was something less than three thousand. On his retirement from the Governor's chair, General Hayes was again elected to Congress.

The Republican convention, which met at Columbus on the 2d of June last to nominate a candidate for Governor, felt that no man was so well fitted to lead the party to victory as General Hayes, and although he expressed a strong desire to remain in private life, and urged the nomination of Judge Taft, he received, on a preliminary ballot, 400 votes out of 547. The ensuing campaign was one of intense excitement, owing to the financial, religious and educational questions involved in the contest. The Republicans went into the contest with earnest zeal, and made a gallant and successful fight against the "rag money" doctrines promulgated by the leaders of the Democratic party.

General Hayes is a native of Ohio. He received an excellent education, and on being admitted to the bar commenced the practice of his profession in Cincinnati. His brilliant abilities soon secured him a large and lucrative practice, which he unhesitatingly abandoned on the breaking out of the rebellion to take part in the war for the preservation of the Union.

A friend at Salem, through whom our attention was called to the above sketch, pertinently asks the Democrats, who sneer at Hayes as a "fourth or fifth rate man," whether it is not "terribly humiliating to the Ohio Democracy to think that such men as Thurman and Allen have been beaten by a 'fourth or fifth rate man.'"

A Washington telegram to the Herald is authority for a rumor that the President desires to fill Bristow's place with Boss Shepherd, but fears the Senate would reject the nomination. The story is incredible. The President can not have remained so long in ignorance of public sentiment, as to desire to identify his administration so intimately with the Boss, whatever may be his personal friendship for that notorious individual. No doubt the Senate would promptly reject his nomination as it did when he was nominated commissioner for the District of Columbia.

FOR SALE,
600 Acres of Dairy Land,
On the North bank of the Columbia River and on the East bank of Chinook River, near its mouth, just 4 miles above Fort Canby.

THIS PLACE IS ESPECIALLY ADAPTED FOR a Dairy, 450 acres of it being excellent grass land, producing sufficient grass to keep 100 cows, a portion being hilly where grass starts early in the spring, and when that gives out there is enough Tide land range (upon which the grass is always green), to keep the cattle fat. One year's crop of Hay will nearly pay for the place.
This place is offered at a sacrifice for cash, or time will be given on part of the purchase price.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JUNE 21, 1876.

CITY.

OUR CENTENNIAL.—Some people think the high water will seriously interfere with the arrangements now in progress for our Centennial celebration. We do not think so. There are plenty of streets outside of First and Front for the procession to move over, and all passable. The hotels are capable of holding as many visitors as may come, and our citizens are as willing to provide for their friends and strangers. It is certainly bad enough without making it appear worse to the outside world. We can't provide against the rise of the water, and if we are placed in a position to be flooded to a certain extent, we must make such provision that the losses will not be great, and prevent inconvenience where it is possible. The Centennial committee are pursuing the course laid out originally towards making the Centennial celebration a success, and are prepared to accept suggestions. Portland will not only provide the visitors from abroad with a big show, as advertised liberally, but will show (perhaps) the biggest sheet of water they ever looked upon in the interior of Oregon. Come one, come all, and make yourselves perfectly at home. Success to everything and everybody through Centennial week.

THE HIGH WATER.—In speaking of the present high water, the Walla Walla Union of the 17th inst. says: "The water from the Upper Columbia has commenced to flow past Wallula. Heretofore, at this season, the high water in the Columbia has been caused by the waters of the Snake river. The flood produced by the last named river had not fairly commenced to subside when the waters of the Columbia came to swell the amount. Yesterday the telegraph reported a rise of six inches at Wallula during the night, making a rise of 30 inches in 36 hours. The water at Umatilla was 10 inches higher than before this season. At the Dalles the water rose 13½ inches during Thursday night. At that place considerable damage has been done by causing merchants and business men to seek the high ground back of Main street with their goods. At Portland the rise is not reported, but it is evident that they are badly troubled there by the high water. The street planking has been weighted down with railroad iron in many places in the lower part of the city, and Front street is reported as almost impassable. The latest advices did not lack much of the high mark of the great flood of 1862.

BODY RECOVERED.—Yesterday forenoon the body of a man was found floating in the river some distance above the old Oregon Iron Works building not far from the shore by two men. The body was entirely nude. It proved on examination to be the body of the late John Wall, who it will be remembered disappeared mysteriously last Wednesday. On the morning of that day a suit of clothes was found lying near the bank of the river which proved to have belonged to Wall; being very readily identified by his wife and a number of friends. Coroner Wetmore was notified and repairing to the place proceeded to hold an inquest over the body. Several witnesses were called and examined, and identified readily the body as that of John Wall. Dr. C. C. Strong was also called and examined the body, and gave it as his opinion that death was the result of drowning. After hearing all the testimony, the jury returned a verdict to the effect that deceased came to his death by drowning on or about the 14th of June, 1876. The body will be buried to-day.

ON THE WING EASTWARD.—Rev. W. F. ..., for a long time our energetic correspondent at Jefferson—who is now en route for the Centennial, sends us a postal "keerd" from ... under date of 14th inst., on which ... the following: "Have chartered a ... Centennial and secured 35 persons, young and old, all told, and all are Oregonians, some of long acquaintance. Have adopted our own rules regulating our own conduct in ... All smoking, profane language, etc., prohibited. Fully one half are women and children, and a very pleasant company we are. Their friends will be glad to hear through your paper of their welfare and success on the long trip. Among our company I will name Miss Mary Robinson, of Dayton. Mr. Mercer and family, of Albany; Mr. Murrey, of Gervais; Mr. Pittinger, of Portland; Mr. and Mrs. ...ll and J. Burnett, of Marion county. Weather scorching hot, 105° in the shade; harvest in California in full blast and crops good. All are doing well, and will keep you posted.

SPECIAL POLICEMEN.—Since the late flood, and the necessary suspension of business along Front and a portion of First streets, a petition has been circulated and extensively signed by many of the merchants and insurance agents of the city, asking the police commissioners to appoint five special police officers to patrol Front and First streets, and guard the property which is now exposed. In compliance with the request made, the commissioners, at their regular meeting last evening, appointed the following special officers: J. B. Carnaval, Z. G. Woods, Jacob Slaughterback, G. W. Boyd, D. Connor. These officers entered upon their duties last evening.

JURY LIST.—The following jurors were called in U. S. district court yesterday morning and answered to their names: Henry Miller, S. J. McCormick, Robert Irving, Robert Potter, Thomas Robertson, Ezra St. John, Seldon Murray, A. S. Nanney, B. W. Cooper, Lewis Cox, Wm. Galtra, Cyrus Clingman, Raphael Cheadle, A. S. Powell, J. Hardman, J. W. Propst, A. R. Byerly, W. J. Mulkey, J. B. Stump, B. F. Burch, H. M. Cooper, Harrison Brunk, David Johnson, Colburn Barrell. The following jurors were excused for the term: S. J. McCormick, Thomas Robertson, Wm. Galtra, Harrison Brunk, Colburn Barrell.

ENTERTAINMENT.—The pupils of the public schools of the city will give an entertainment at Masonic Hall Friday evening, for the benefit of "The Portland Public School Library." The enterprise is truly praiseworthy, and will meet the hearty approval of a generous and ... people. The exercises will consist of vocal and instrumental music, readings, essays, recitations and the presentation of diplomas to eleven students—the High School graduates. Choice selections rendered by the Amphions will add much to the interest of the occasion.

RECEPTION.—The young ladies of Plymouth Church, corner of 14th and E streets, will give one of their pleasant and agreeable entertainments in the way of a strawberry and ice cream festival on Friday evening of the present week, commencing at 8 o'clock. The Rev. J. H. Daley, of Painsville, Ohio, will address those present. The many friends of Mr. Daley will have an opportunity of meeting with the reverend gentleman in a social capacity. Admittance free. A cordial invitation is extended to the public.

FUNERAL CEREMONIES.—The funeral ceremonies of the late Charles E. Calef will take place to-morrow afternoon at half-past 4 o'clock P. M., at the residence. Rev. R. Bentley will conduct the services. At the close of the burial ceremonies the remains will be conveyed to the steamer, and will be sent below to San Francisco for interment in Lone Mountain Cemetery. All friends of the deceased are cordially invited to attend.

HOW IS IT?—A correspondent writing from Salem says: "How is it that Portland has four members on the Centennial base ball committee while clubs outside that city are allowed but one?" is the conundrum of the present time among the ball tossers of the interior. We presume the members of the Centennial committee who made the appointments could furnish our correspondent "good and sufficient" reasons for their action.

SERENADING.—The Waverly Club, accompanied by Messrs Bray, Kay and Roos, upon the termination of the first part of a serenading excursion Monday evening, called at this office and paid their compliments, for which our "night owls" hold the club in grateful remembrance. At a later hour the club visited their lady friends in the north end.

CENTENNIAL MEDALS.—Henrichsen & Co. have completed the Centennial medal for the champion billiardist, and the balance of the medals for turners' prizes. The medal for hand engine prize will be finished soon.

CARRIED AWAY.—It was rumored on the streets last evening that the Umatilla House at The Dalles has been carried away by the high water.

WEATHER REPORT.—From the records of the U. S. Signal Station of Observation, Portland, Oregon, June 20, 1876:

TO STEAMBOAT CAPTAINS.—Captains of steamers should keep their vessels well to the east side, and run under slow bells, as the swells caused by the movement of paddle wheels proves a great inconvenience to property owners along the city front. Will the captains confer this favor?

CAMPMEETING CONTINUED.—The campmeeting which commenced at the Ames Chapel campground, seven miles southwest of Portland, on the 15th of June will be continued over the next Sunday, 25th inst. All are cordially invited to attend, especially ministers.

ARRIVED.—The ocean steamer arrived at 8 o'clock last evening, making much better time than was anticipated.

WATER NOTES.

And it is still rising.

Gumboots are in demand.

The water is two feet deep on Front street.

Business on Front street is in a great measure suspended.

Large crowds come down to Front street to see "how it is."

Capt. Foster keeps the Stark street ferry moving on time.

The Clarendon hotel folks have raised the false floors several inches.

The water is slowly crawling over the first floor at Wm. Hume's fishery.

Jo. Buchtel will photograph the situation along First and Front streets.

Street cars have discontinued running on First street north of Washington street.

"What are they propping those houses up for?" inquired an innocent man of a property owner.

With the assistance of the tide, the water stood one foot on the first floor of Hapgood's fishery Monday night.

First street, from Washington, north, is undergoing the ballast process, the water having encroached upon that thoroughfare.

Front street clerks amuse themselves by paddling floats through that street. The course is too much obstructed to admit of contests.

The OREGONIAN pressroom floor is under water. Lew, our efficient pressman, will put the machine through if Mount Hood sends all her snow down.

Young America may congratulate themselves—the water has reached the high water mark of '62, and the "oldest" can "let up" on that much-talked-of event.

At Jackson & Myers' fishery, on the Lower Columbia, the water is just level with the wharf. Our friend "Tobe" thinks it is getting a little too close to be comfortable.

The water over the railroad tracks has caused the company to discontinue carrying freight or passengers over the line north of L street. All trains stop at L street. Freights are carried by boats to the track, and passengers cross on the Stark street ferry.

The water is level with Rainier fishery. The lumber yards afloat at Oak Point; the mill is stopped, and landings are effected by scows. The water is level with the wharves at Cathlamet. The people are living in attics with holes in the roof to crawl out of. No chance to take off stock, which is crowded on the knolls.

Court adjourned until to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock.

BRIEF NOTES.

Weather cooler, and prospects of fair in the river.

Dong Gong, the Chinese missionary, is preaching on the Sound.

Chief Lappeus has gone to Salem to bring down the prisoners Tompkins, Bramlette, Hansen, White and Johnson, who are to testify in the case of United States vs. Shepardson, on a charge of mail robbery.

For some days past telegraphic communication with the outside world has been kept up by sending the messages between Portland and Kalama by boat. Parts of the line between those places have been under water for two weeks or more.

STAGE OF WATER.

Yesterday at 12 o'clock a dispatch by the O. S. N. Co.'s line, from the Dalles, says: "The river rose 7½ inches from 6.30 o'clock last night to 8 o'clock this morning. Since that it has risen about two inches. The river is now about one foot above the highest mark of 1862. There is but one dwelling house occupied on Front street this morning. Weather cloudy and raining at present." A telegram from the same point last evening at 6.30 o'clock says: "Cloudy, thermometer 71°, river rising at the rate of ¼ an inch per hour since noon today. Heavy up-stream wind." From noon Monday to noon yesterday the river had risen 10 inches at the Cascades.

BASE BALL.

The Pioneer baseball club have elected Henry Thompson as their captain. A game with the Spartans, of Vancouver, is on the tapis.

The Eastern championship stands: June 10th—Chicago won 16, lost 3, Hartford 16 and 4, St. Louis 12 and 8. Bostons and Mutuals a tie, and the Louisville, Hartford, Athletic, Cincinnati, considerably behind.

Ladies, the best guide to health—wear Dr. Warner's Health Corset.

The Gas Company give notice that gas will be shut off. Of course you must have light, so if you will call on H. W. Monnastes, No. 129 First street, he will supply you with the best kind of lamps at a very low rate.

The temperance Presidential candidate still remains in the background; but Noble Whisky has been nominated as the temperance drink, and is for sale at H. Fleckenstein's, 117 First street.

MAIL ROBBERY CASE.

TRIAL IN U. S. DISTRICT COURT OF MILTON SHEPARDSON, FOR ROBBING THE MAILS.

In the U. S. district court, yesterday morning, the case of Milton Shepardson, accused of robbing the U. S. mails at Antelope valley, in Wasco county, in July, 1872, was called for trial.

U. S. District Attorney, R. Mallory, assisted by J. C. Moreland and Richard Williams, represented the case on behalf of the government. Messrs. W. Lair Hill, Geo. H. Durham and H. Y. Thompson appeared for the defendant.

The following jurors were empaneled to try the cause: A. S. Nanney, B. F. Burch, J. B. Stump, David Johnson, Henry Miller, A. S. Powell, Lewis Cox, J. W. Propst, H. M. Cooper, Cyrus Clingman, A. R. Byerley, W. J. Mulkey.

J. C. Moreland stated the case to the jury in behalf of the government.

H. Y. Thompson opened the case in behalf of the defense.

Afternoon Session.

The Court sat promptly at one o'clock and after the jury was called, the first witness called by the prosecution was

AD. EDGAR,

Who was driver of the stage robbed. Being duly sworn he testified that he was driving at the time of the robbery. The stage left Canyon City for the Dalles on Thursday morning, July 11th, and reached Antelope Canyon on the evening of the 12th, a little before sundown. The road through the canyon is rocky and in some places is very steep, so that the rate of travel on that part of the route of the stage is necessarily slow. On the trip when the robbery occurred, there were on the stage besides the witness, who was driver, a Captain Fearing, Miss Franklin and Mrs. Morrison, Geo. Kinsey, a discharged soldier from Camp Watson, and a small boy, son of Mrs. Morrison. After coming down Antelope Canyon a short distance, three men with their faces masked suddenly sprang from the bush on the north side of the road, one of them exclaiming as they all brought their guns to bear on the stage, "halt, throw up your hands." Then one of the robbers demanded the mail sacks which were thrown out. The robbers at first took position in a line ahead of the stage, and nearly parallel with the road. One of them, when the stage stopped walked around the lead horse and came back by the near the fore wheel of the stage, and after examining some sacks containing private papers, clothing, etc., belonging to witness, said "that's all right." Witness asked him if the stage could go on and he said "drive on." Three of the passengers who were walking at the time the robbers came out of the brush and Mrs. Morrison, who jumped out of the stage in a fright at their appearance, all got in and the stage drove on to Ward's station, some six miles. The mail sacks taken were medium sized leather sacks with iron locks. Witness had seen two similar sacks which were found cut open, in the brush about ten miles from the place of the robbery near John Day's river. These sacks had been found before he saw them which was on the 29th of May, 1874. The place where they were was shown to him by a man from Current creek station. He examined them but did not take them away; returned to the place on the 23d of June, in the same year with Mr. Dexter, deputy postal agent, who brought the sacks away. They were mouldy on the under side and appeared burnt and cracked by the exposure to the sun on the upper side. [A diagram of the road between The Dalles and Canyon City and the country adjacent thereto, was shown the witness, who marked on it the place where he saw these sacks, and the diagram was put in evidence.]

On cross examination, Mr. Edgar stated he had driven from Camp Watson on the day of the robbery; that the mail sacks were kept in the room where he slept on the night previous; that he arrived at the place of the robbery about the time when he usually reached that point; that he was acquainted with Jesse Warfield, but had never written or spoken a word to him about testifying in this case. Witness said he had spent a good deal of time and money in hunting up testimony in this case. He had worked for himself and not in the employ of any one. He had done this for the sake of justice, not in the cause of those who had been convicted, but to free the innocent. He knew Frank Tompkins, Ed. Hanson, Bramlette and White, but was well acquainted with Tompkins only. He had made it a part of his business on visiting Washington City to try to secure a pardon for Tompkins, but had never received a letter from Tompkins in which the writer said in words or effect that unless he (Edgar) succeeded in securing his (Tompkins) release, he would expose the whole arrangement. He believed that he had at his home at the Dalles all the letters he had received from Frank Tompkins. The cross-examination having closed Mr. Mallory stated that he desired to dismiss the witness for the time being but would recall him in another branch of the case.

H. H. HYDE,

A merchant at Prairie City, Grant county, during the year 1872, was called, sworn and examined. He states that he mailed a can of gold dust,—about 30 ounces, and registered it at Canyon City on the 10th of July, 1872, and that it was in the mail that was robbed. It was Dixie creek dust and worth $16 75 per ounce. He had borne the loss himself and had never received a quarter of a dollar of it back, and it had not reached its destination.

JOHN MULDRICK,

Deputy postmaster at Canyon City, was called, sworn and testified from a copy of the register in the postoffice there concerning the registered matter which left that office in the mail on the morning of July 11, 1872, and must in due course of mail, have been in sacks taken at the robbery. These packages, which contained gold dust, were five in number, McCulloch & Hellman, H. H. Hyde, H. R. Sels & Co., Messenger & Co., and a Chinaman, each sending one package. Rinehart, Overholtzer & Co. also sent as registered matter, $121 in legal tenders in the same mail, which was lost by them.

JOHN M'CULLOCH

Testified that he was merchandising at Canyon City from 1863 until the 1st of last May; that on the 10th of July, 1872, he had sent 40 ounces of gold dust worth $16 75 per ounce, in the mail which left Canyon City the next day. This dust had never, to his knowledge, reached its destination, and that the loss had fallen on himself and his partner.

T. D. PHELPS,

Who is alleged to have been one of the robbers, and who has since confessed the whole matter and turned State's evidence, was now called by the prosecution. He was examined at great length. He said in substance that he resides in Dayton, W. T., have resided there since 1872, went there in July, the latter part. Was first engaged in the confectionery business there for more than a year and then kept a livery stable, then kept a fruit stand one season. Since then I have been in Idaho peddling eggs and butter. Dayton is 26 miles from Walla Walla. I resided in Gem Town, Union county, Oregon, last before I went to Dayton. Went there in 1871, was blacksmithing at Gem Town. I knew defendant, Shepardson, and Charles Darnell. Shepardson followed gambling and prospecting. He was sometimes called Mathews and sometimes "Horning." He met me in Gem Town and asked me to take a walk with him. He proposed to rob the stage; I told him I was not on that layout. He then left me, but came back again a few days after and proposed the matter again. After a long talk I told him "all right." I left Gem on my horse a few days after, and after traveling a short distance was overtaken by Shepardson and Darnell. Witness here described the route taken by himself, Shepardson and Darnell until they reached the scene of the robbery, giving details names of where they stopped, persons they met on the trip, etc. After leaving Gem Town, or Gem, the trio went toward Baker City, camping a few miles beyond that place, then passing by Eldorado to their next camping place at Hot Springs, Darnell leaving the others and going to Canyon City, where he purchased, or said he purchased, an additional horse, and overtaking witness and Shepardson the day after they passed Canyon City. This additional horse was used to pack the guns, blankets, etc., of the party. They finally reached a lake about ten miles from the point where The Dalles and Canyon City road passes through Rock creek canyon. Here they camped about three weeks. On the 11th day of July they went down to the road, intending to commit the deed at that time, but for some reason postponed it and went back to camp at the lake. Remaining there a few days longer, they then moved down toward Antelope canyon. On the 12th of July they broke camp and coming to the head of the canyon when the sun was yet an hour high, they saw the stage coming over an eminence. They moved on down the canyon and took their position in the bushes which grow quite close up to the road at that point. Darnell and Shepardson sat or squatted close together, and Phelps about 20 feet from them in the direction from which the stage was approaching. When the stage came up the three men stepped out into the road simultaneously and Shepardson called out "Halt, throw up your hands;" and passed around the heads of the lead horses, and the mail sacks were thrown out. The witness and Darnell still keeping their guns bearing on the stage driver and passengers. Shepardson had a short Henry rifle, Darnell had a shot gun and witness had a Henry rifle. Witness' gun was not cocked, but he did not know as to the others. The parties wore masks over their faces made of blue cloth. After the sacks were thrown out Shepardson ordered the driver to go on, and Darnell and witness stepped out of the road, the passengers got in and the stage started. When the stage had got nearly out of sight, witness and Darnell, each took one of the sacks and Shepardson took the guns and together they went back to their horses and rode until near daylight next morning, when they stopped, cut open the sacks and put the contents into another sack and started on, crossing John Day's river about sunrise. At noon they camped in the mountains, took the packages out, burnt the letters and papers and divided the treasure among them. Here witness separated from them, taking the greenbacks and gold dust falling to his share and a watch he was wearing, which belonged to Shepardson. Witness went to Nelson on Butter creek the next day, thence to Birch creek, thence to Pendleton, thence to Walla Walla. Remaining at Walla Walla two or three days, he went to Dayton and staid there a few days, and left for Lewiston, where he sold his share of the gold dust for about $700. At Lewiston he saw Shepardson, and talked with him, and paid him $20 for the watch, which was produced in court and identified by witness. He and Shepardson left Lewiston together and traveled in company one day, but on the next witness left him and came on to Dayton again.

The cross examination of Phelps, conducted by Mr. Thompson, of counsel for defense, was quite thorough and exhaustive as far as it proceeded, but elicited nothing materially at variance with the substance of his evidence as given above. Pending the cross-examination of Phelps, after the usual admonition to the jury, the court adjourned till 9 o'clock A. M. to-morrow.

CASCADE NOTES.

Our regular correspondent at the Cascades sends the following items under date of June 20th:

Gumboots and life preservers are in demand.

The high water has caused several of our residents to go to Portland, where they expect to reside until the water recedes.

Everybody is preparing for Independence Day. A grand ball will take place on the evening of that day at the garrison, provided the hall does not wash away.

Mr. Udney Hamilton, the young gentleman who had the misfortune to have a large threshing machine pass over his foot a few days ago, is again able to present his smiling "phiz" to his numerous friends.

Mr. S. B. Jones, conductor on the C. R. R., who has been confined to his bed for quite a while suffering from a severe attack of rheumatism, is rapidly recovering. A. R. McDonald, Esq., takes his place on the train during his illness.

The river at this place is said to be as high, or higher than it was in 1862. A large portion of the railroad at the Lower Cascades has been washed away, and a large force of men are employed in weighting down the bridges in order to prevent them from going away. The water is up to the O. S. N. Co.'s shops and mess house. The wharf-boat has been drawn so far up that cars cannot get near it, and consequently the Welcome has to land at the garrison.

SCHOOL EXAMINATIONS.

The examinations in the public schools will be held as follows to day:

GRAMMAR SCHOOLS.

June 21—9 to 12, Arithmetic; 9 to 12, French, (Telemaque); 9 to 12, Natural Philosophy; 1 to 2:30, Spelling.

PRIMARY SCHOOLS.

June 21—Mental arithmetic, class B, 1st, 2d, 3d grades.

The Opposition Store folks have constructed the first Willamette bridge which the public can safely cross. They announce a limited supply of rubber boots, which can be procured at moderate prices even if the demand is great.

If you have no spare cash to invest in tickets to the Philadelphia Centennial stay at home and enjoy your own. You can see big sights and buy clothing equally as cheap at Kohn's Emporium, First and Morrison streets. He keeps his stock full and of the best.

Mr Jason Royal, First street, between Yamhill and Taylor, has opened a well assorted stock of ladies', gentleman's and children's shoes, to which he invites the attention of our citizens. His aim is to provide the best at the very lowest price. Call and see his new stock.

Popular—the "golden thread" cigar.

W. L. ADAMS, M. D., A. M., LL. D., corner of First and Salmon streets, is curing the most inveterate chronic diseases of all kinds at a low price, by medicated, electric lightning cream baths, and by combining the German and French with the American improved practice, mixed with a little common sense. His treatment is, in the main, entirely original, and works almost miracles, as his numerous patients will attest. A lady always in the office to assist in treating women.

CORNS AND BUNIONS.

Dr. Halpruner treats corns, bunions, ingrowing nails, etc., at your residence or hotel. He can be advised through the postoffice, or seen at his office and residence, corner Eighth and Market streets.

NOTICE.

The undersigned in taking leave of Portland returns his sincere thanks for the liberal patronage that has been bestowed, and would bespeak for his successors a continuance of the same.

Both Drs. BARBER & NICKLIN are gentlemen in every way competent and worthy of any confidence that may be placed in them, and as such I can conscientiously recommend them to my former friends and patrons. J. H. HATCH.

If Johnson's Anodyne Liniment is half as valuable as people say it is, no family should be without it. Certainly no person, be he lawyer doctor, minister, or of any other profession, should start on a journey without it. No sailor, fisherman or woodsman should be without it. In fact, it is needed wherever there is an ache, sprain, cut, bruise cough or cold.

Farmers and "Horse Men" are continually inquiring what we know of the utility of Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders, and in reply, we would say, through the columns of the OREGONIAN, that we have heard from hundreds who have used them with gratifying results, that is also our experience.

POND'S EXTRACT.—The Great Family Medicine of the Age differs from all advertised preparations, in the fact that it is a standard medicine of recognized merit, and has for many years been treated of in medical writings. It has been the chief reliance of thousands of families for all the minor ailments, accidents or casualties that have occurred among them. As an alleviator of pain and a promoter of permanent cure it has no equal. Ask your druggist about it.

NOTES FROM SALEM.

SOCIAL, PERSONAL AND OTHERWISE.

Our regular correspondent, under date of June 20th, sends the following:

The Dallas campmeeting was largely attended by Salemites Sunday last.

Theo. Cartwright left Salem this morning for Antelope Valley, where he has a large stock ranche.

Jerry Coldwell having resigned charge of the Mercury local column, Mr. Bristow is attending to the matter himself.

T. H. Wells, of Salem, has been chosen orator of the day to assist in celebrating our great and glorious Fourth at Turner's Station.

H. P. Crooke has purchased the Willis property on Front street, and M. L. Chamberlin has rented the Downer House on the same street.

Our College Club are elated over their victory over the Spartans, of Vancouver, at Oregon City; but feeling the battle not half over they will attend assiduously to practice until after the Fourth of July.

Three parties were arrested here yesterday charged with breaking into some dwelling house a few miles in the country on Saturday last. Their trial is in progress this morning before Judge Peebles.

The friends of Eph Olinger will be pleased to learn he was honorably acquitted of the charge of assault with a dangerous weapon on the person of Wesley Graves, of this city. His trial came off in the Circuit Court last Saturday, the jury being out but about fifteen minutes.

Grand Worthy Chief Templar W. R. Dunbar, has appointed the following State deputies for the ensuing year: Col. T. H. Cann, Salem; Jas. A. Smith, Portland; Rev. J. B. N. Bell, Ashland; Wm. Russell, Weston; Capt. O. C. Applegate, Linkville; B. H. Allen, Halsey; T. B. Handley, Hillsboro; Asa Shreve, Dallas; and H. V. Grubbe, Wilbur. Other appointments will be made in due time.

"Whose pordrait was dot?" asked a Teuton of a friend as they were going through a picture gallery. "That? Henry Clay," was the reply. "Hendry Clay?" "Yes, to be sure, Henry Clay." "O, der great cigar man," said he, after a moment's reflection. The great store is Fishel & Roberts'.

You can get to Barnes', Central Market, without donning rubber boots.

WEDNESDAY MORNING JUNE 21 1876

CITY.

OUR CENTENNIAL.—Some people think the high water will seriously interfere with the arrangements now in progress for our Centennial celebration. We do not think so. There are plenty of streets outside of First and Front for the procession to move over and all passable. The hotels are capable of holding as many visitors as may come and our citizens are willing to provide for their friends and strangers. It is certainly bad enough without making it appear worse to the outside world. We can't provide against the rise of the water and if we are placed in a position to be flooded to a certain extent we must make such provision that the losses will not be great and prevent inconvenience where it is possible. The Centennial committee are pursuing the course laid out originally towards making the Centennial celebration a success and are prepared to accept suggestions. Portland will not only provide the visitors from abroad with a big show as advertised liberally but will show (perhaps) the biggest sheet of water they ever looked upon in the interior of Oregon. Come one come all and make yourselves perfectly at home. Success to every thing and everybody through Centennial week.

THE HIGH WATER.—In speaking of the present high water the Walla Walla Union of the 17th inst says: The water from the Upper Columbia has commenced to flow past Wallula. Heretofore at this season the high water in the Columbia has been caused by the waters of the Snake river. The flood produced by the last named river had not fairly commenced to subside when the waters of the Columbia came to swell the amount. Yesterday the telegraph reported a rise of six inches at Wallula during the night making a rise of 30 inches in 33 hours. The water at Umatilla was 10 inches higher than before this season. At the Dalles the water rose 13½ inches during Thursday night. At that place considerable ... has been done by causing merchants and ... men to seek the high ground back of Main street with their goods. At Portland the rise is not reported but it is evident that they are badly troubled there by the high water. The street planking has been ... down with railroad iron in many ... in the lower part of the city and Front ... reported as almost impassable. The last advices did not lack much of the high ... of the great flood of 1862.

BODY RECOVERED.—Yesterday forenoon the body of a man was found floating in the river some ... above the old Oregon Iron Works ... not far from the shore by two men. The body was entirely nude. It ... on examination to be the body of the gambler, John Wall, who it will be remembered disappeared mysteriously last Wednesday. On the morning of that day a suit of clothes was found lying near the bank of the river which proved to have belonged to Wall ... very readily identified by his wife and a number of friends. Coroner Wetmore was notified and repairing to the place proceeded to hold an inquest over the body. Several witnesses were called and examined, and identified readily the body as that of John Wall. Dr C C Strong was also called and examined the body and gave it as his opinion that death was the result of drowning. After hearing all the testimony the jury returned a verdict to the effect that deceased came to his death by drowning on or about the 14th of June 1876. The body will be buried to-day.

... THE WING EASTWARD.—Rev W F ... for a long time our energetic correspondent ... Jefferson—who is now en route for ... sends us a postal 'keerd' under date of 14th inst, on which ... the following: Have chartered ... Centennial and secured 35 persons, ... old, all told, and all are Oregon ... of long acquaintance. Have adopted ... rules regulating our own conduct in the car. All smoking, profane language, etc., ... Fully one half are women and ... and a very pleasant company we ... Their friends will be glad to hear through your paper of their welfare and success on the long trip. Among our company I will name Mrs Mary Robinson, of Dayton; Mr Mercer and family, of Albany; Mr Murrey of Gervais; Mr Pittinger of Portland; Mr and Mrs Small and J Burnett, of Marion county. Weather scorching hot 105° in the shade; harvest in California in full blast and crops good. All are doing well, and will keep you posted.

SPECIAL POLICEMEN.—Since the late flood, and the necessary suspension of business along Front and a portion of First streets a petition has been circulated and extensively signed by many of the merchants and insurance agents of the city, asking the police commissioners to appoint five special police officers to patrol Front and First streets and guard the property which is now exposed. In compliance with the request made the commissioners at their regular meeting last evening, appointed the following special officers: J B Sarsaval, Z G Woods, Jacob Slaughter, Jack, G W Boyd, D Connor. These officers entered upon their duties last evening.

JURY LIST.—The following jurors were called in U S district court yesterday morning and answered to their names: Henry Miller, S J McCormick, Robert Irving, Robert Porter, Thomas Robertson, Ezra St John, Seldon Murray, A S Nanney, B W Cooper, Lewis Cox, Wm Galtra, Cyrus Chingman, Raphael Cheadle, A S Powell, J Hurdman, J W Propst, A R Byerly, W J Mulkey, J B Stump, B F Burch, H M Cooper, Harrison Brunk, David Johnson, Colburn Barrell. The following jurors were excused for the term: S J McCormick, Thomas Roberston, Wm. Galtra, Harrison Brunk, Colburn Barrell.

ENTERTAINMENT.—The pupils of the public schools of the city will give an entertainment at ... tonic Hall Friday evening for the benefit of "The Portland Public School Library." The enterprise is truly praiseworthy and will meet the hearty approval of a generous and ... people. The exercises will consist of vocal and instrumental music, readings, recitations and the presentation of di... to eleven students—the High School graduates. Choice selections rendered by the Amphions will add much to the interest of the ...

...—The young ladies of Plymouth ... corner of 14th and L streets will give one of their pleasant and agreeable entertainments in the way of a strawberry and ice cream festival on Friday evening of the present week commencing at 8 o'clock. The Rev J H Daley, of Painsville Ohio will address those present. The many friends of Mr Daley will have an opportunity of meeting with the reverend gentleman in a social capacity. Admittance free. A cordial invitation is extended to the public.

FUNERAL CEREMONIES.—The funeral ceremonies of the late Charles E. Calef will take place to-morrow afternoon at half past 4 o'clock P M at the residence. Rev R Bentley will conduct the services. At the close of the burial ceremonies the remains will be conveyed to the steamer and will be sent below to San Francisco for interment in Lone Mountain Cemetery. All friends of the deceased are cordially invited to attend.

HOW IS IT?—A correspondent writing from Salem says: How is it that Portland has four members on the Centennial base ball committee while clubs outside that city are allowed but one? is the conundrum of the present time among the ball tossers of the interior. We presume the members of the Centennial committee who made the appointments could furnish our correspondent good and sufficient reasons for their action.

SERENADE.—The Waverly Club accompanied by Messrs Fry, Kay and Ross upon the ... of the first part of a serenading excursion Monday evening called at this office and paid their compliments for which our night owls hold the club in grateful remembrance. A later hour the club visited their lady friends in the north end.

CENTENNIAL MEDAL.—Henrichsen & Co have completed the Centennial medal for the champion billiardist and the balance of the medals for ... prizes. The medal for hand engine prize will be finished soon.

CARRIED AWAY.—It was rumored on the streets last evening that the Umatilla House at The Dalles has been carried away by the high water.

TO STEAMBOAT CAPTAINS.—Captains of steamers should keep their vessels well to the east side and run under slow bells, as the swells caused by the movement of paddle wheels prove a great annoyance to property owners along the city front. Will the captains confer this favor?

CAMPMEETING CONTINUED.—The campmeeting which commenced at the Ames Chapel campground seven miles southwest of Portland on the 14th of June will be continued over the next Sunday, 25th inst. All are cordially invited to attend, especially ministers.

ARRIVED.—The ocean steamer arrived at 8 o'clock last evening, making much better time than was anticipated.

WATER NOTES.

And it is still rising.

Gumboots are in demand.

The water is two feet deep on Front street.

Business on Front street is in a great measure suspended.

Large crowds come down to Front street to see how it is.

Capt Foster keeps the Stark street ferry moving on time.

The Clarendon hotel folks have raised the false floors several inches.

The water is slowly crawling over the first floor at Wm Hume's fishery.

Jo Buchtel will photograph the situation along First and Front streets.

Street cars have discontinued running on First street north of Washington street.

What are they propping those houses up for? inquired an innocent man of a property owner.

With the assistance of the tide the water stood one foot on the first floor of Hapgood's fishery Monday night.

First street from Washington north is undergoing the ballast process, the water having encroached upon that thoroughfare.

Front street clerks amuse themselves by paddling floats through that street. The course is too much obstructed to admit of contests.

The OREGONIAN pressroom floor is under water. Lew, our efficient pressman, will put the machine through if Mount Hood sends all her snow down.

Young America may congratulate them selves—the water has reached the high water mark of 62 and the 'oldest can let up on that much talked of event.

At Jackson & Myers fishery on the Lower Columbia, the water is just level with the wharf. Our friend 'Tobe' thinks it is getting a little too close to be comfortable.

The water over the railroad tracks has caused the company to discontinue carrying freight or passengers over the line north of I street. All trains stop at I street. Freights are carried by boats to the track and passengers cross on the Stark street ferry.

The water is level with Rainier fishery. The lumber yards all sat at Oak Point the mill is stopped and landings are effected by scows. The water is level with the wharves at Cathlamet. The people are living in attics with holes in the roof to crawl out of. No chance to take off stock which is crowded on the knolls.

For some days past telegraphic communication with the outside world has been kept up by sending the messages between Portland and Kalama by boat. Parts of the line between those places have been under water for two weeks or more.

STAGE OF WATER.

Yesterday at 12 o'clock a dispatch by the O S N Co's line from the Dalles says: The river rose 7½ inches from 6.30 o'clock last night to 8 o'clock this morning. Since that it has risen about two inches. The river is now about one foot above the highest mark of 1862. There is but one dwelling house occupied on Front street this morning. Weather cloudy and raining at present. A telegram from the same point last evening at 6.30 o'clock says: Cloudy, thermometer 71°, river rising at the rate of ½ an inch per hour since noon to day. Heavy up stream wind. From noon Monday to noon yesterday the river had risen 10 inches at the Cascades.

MAIL ROBBERY CASE.

TESTIMONY ... THE MAILS

In the U S district court yesterday morning, the case of Milton Shepardson, accused of robbing the U S mails at Antelope valley in Wasco county in July 1872, was called for trial.

U S District Attorney J. McEvoy assisted by J K Mercland and Richard Williams represented the case in behalf of the government. Messrs W ... H H ... Geo H Durham and H Y Thompson appeared for the defendant.

The following jurors were empanelled to try the case: A S Nanney, B F Burch, J B Stump, David Johnson, Henry Miller, A S Powell, Lewis Cox, J W Propst, H M Cooper, Cyrus Chingman, A R Byerley, W J Mulkey.

J C Moreland stated the case to the jury in behalf of the government.

H Y Thompson opened the case in behalf of the defense.

Afternoon Session

The Court sat promptly at one o'clock and after the jury was called the first witness called by the prosecution was

AD EDGAR,

Who was driver of the stage robbed. Being duly sworn he testified that he was driving at the time of the robbery. The stage left Canyon City for the Dalles on Thursday morning July 11th and reached Antelope Canyon on the evening of the 12th a little before sundown. The road through the canyon is rocky and in some places is very steep so that the rate of travel on that part of the route of the stage is necessarily slow. On the trip when the robbery occurred there were on the stage besides the witness who was driver a Captain Fearing, Miss Franklin and Mrs Morrison, Geo Kinsey a discharged soldier from Camp Watson and a small boy son of Mrs Morrison. After coming down Antelope Canyon a short distance three men with their faces masked suddenly sprang from the bush on the north side of the road one of them exclaiming as they all brought their guns to bear on the stage "halt throw up your hands." Then one of the robbers demanded the mail sacks which were thrown out. The robbers at first took position in a line ahead of the stage and nearly parallel with the road. One of them when the stage stopped walked around the lead horse and came back by the near the fore wheel of the stage, and after examining some sacks containing private papers clothing etc belonging to witness said that's all right. Witness asked him if the stage could go on and he said 'drive on.' Three of the passengers who were walking at the time the robbers came out of the brush and Mrs Morrison who jumped out of the stage in a fright at their appearance all got in and the stage drove on to Ward's station some six miles. The mail sacks taken were medium sized leather sacks with iron locks. Witness had seen two similar sacks which were found cut open in the brush about ten miles from the place of the robbery near John Day's river. These sacks had been found before he saw them which was on the 29th of May 1874. The place where they were was shown to him by a man from Current creek station. He examined them but did not take them away. He returned to the place on the ...d of June in the same year with Mr Dexter deputy postal agent who brought the sacks away. They were mouldy on the under side and appeared burnt and cracked by the exposure to the sun on the upper side. [A diagram of the road between The Dalles and Canyon City and the country adjacent thereto was shown the witness who marked on it the place where he saw these sacks and the diagram was put in evidence.]

On cross examination Mr Edgar stated he had driven from Camp Watson on the day of the robbery; that the mail sacks were kept in the room where he slept on the night previous; that he arrived at the place of the robbery about the time when he usually reached that point; that he was acquainted with Jesse Warfield but had never written or spoken a word to him about testifying in this case. Witness said he had spent a good deal of time and money in hunting up testimony in this case. He had worked for himself and not in the employ of any one. He had done this for the sake of justice, not in the cause of those who had been convicted but to free the innocent. He knew Frank Tompkins, Ed Hanson, Bramlette and White but was well acquainted with Tompkins only. He had made it a part of his business on visiting Washington City to try to secure a pardon for Tompkins, but had never received a letter from Tompkins in which the writer said in words or effect that unless he (Edgar) succeeded in securing his (Tompkins) release he would expose the whole arrangement. He believed that he had at his home at the Dalles all the letters he had received from Frank Tompkins. The cross examination having closed Mr Mallory stated that he desired to dismiss the witness for the time being but would recall him in another branch of the case.

R R HYDE

A merchant at Prairie City, Grant county, during the year 1872 was called sworn and examined. He states that he mailed a can of gold dust—about 30 ounces and registered it at Canyon City on the 10th of July 1872 and that it was in the mail that was robbed. It was Dixie creek dust and worth $16 75 per ounce. He had borne the loss himself and had never received a quarter of a dollar of it back and it had not reached its destination.

JOHN MULLEK

Deputy postmaster at Canyon City, was called sworn and testified from a copy of the register in the postoffice there concerning the registered matter which left that office in the mail on the morning of July 11 1872 and must in due course of mail have been in sacks taken at the robbery. These packages, which contained gold dust, were five in number: McCulloch & Hellman, H H Hyde, H R Sels & Co, Messenger & Co and a Chinaman, each sending one package. Kinehart Overholtzer & Co also sent as registered matter, $121 in legal tenders in the same mail which was lost by them.

JOHN McCULLOCH

Testified that he was merchandising at Canyon City from 1863 until the 1st of last May; that on the 10th of July 1872 he had sent 40 ounces of gold dust worth $16 75 per ounce in the mail which left Canyon City the next day. This dust had never, to his knowledge, reached its destination and that the loss had fallen on himself and his partner.

T D PHELPS

Who is alleged to have been one of the robbers and who has since confessed the whole matter and turned State's evidence was now called by the prosecution. He was examined at great length. He said in substance that he resides in Dayton W T, have resided there since 1872; went there in July the latter part. Was first engaged in the confectionery business there for more than a year and then kept a livery stable, then kept a fruit stand one season. Since then I have been in Idaho peddling eggs and butter. Dayton is 25 miles from Walla Walla. I resided in Gem Town, Union county, Oregon last before I went to Dayton. Went there in 1871. Was blacksmithing at Gem Town. I knew defendant Shepardson and Charles Darnell. Shepardson followed gambling and prospecting. He was sometimes called Mathews and sometimes Horning. He met me in Gem Town and asked me to take a walk with him. He proposed to rob the stage; I told him I was not on that layout. He then left me but came back again a few days after and proposed the matter again. After a long talk I told him all right. I left Gem on my horse a few days after and after traveling a short distance was overtaken by Shepardson and Darnell. Witness here described the route taken by himself, Shepardson and Darnell until they reached the scene of the robbery, giving details, names of where they stopped, persons they met on the trip, etc. After leaving Gem Town ... they went toward Baker City, camping a few miles beyond that place then passing by Eldorado to their next camping place at Hot Springs. Darnell leaving the others and going to Canyon City where he purchased ... he said he purchased an additional horse and one ... witness and Shepardson the day after they passed Canyon City. This additional horse was used to pack the guns, blankets, etc. of the party. They finally reached a lake about ten miles from the point where The Dalles and Canyon City road passes through Rock creek canyon. Here they camped about three weeks. On the 4th day of July they went down to the road intending to commit the deed at that time but for some reason postponed it and went back to camp at the lake. Remaining there a few days longer they then moved down toward Antelope canyon. On the 12th of July they broke camp and coming to the head of the canyon when the sun was yet an hour high they saw the stage coming over an eminence. They moved on down the canyon and took their position in the bushes which grow quite close up to the road at that point. Darnell and Shepardson sat or squatted close together, and Phelps about 20 feet from them in the direction from which the stage was approaching. When the stage came up the three men stepped out into the road simultaneously and Shepardson called out "Halt, throw up your hands," and passed around the heads of the lead horses and the mail sacks were thrown out. The witness and Darnell still keeping their guns bearing on the stage driver and passengers. Shepardson had a short Henry rifle. Darnell had a shot gun and witness had a Henry rifle. Witness gun was not cocked but he did not know as to the others. The parties wore masks over their faces made of blue cloth. After the sacks were thrown out Shepardson ordered the driver to go on and Darnell and witness stepped out of the road; the passengers got in and the stage started. When the stage had got nearly out of sight witness and Darnell each took one of the sacks and Shepardson took the guns and together they went back to their horses and rode until near daylight next morning when they stopped, cut open the sacks and put the contents into another sack and started on, crossing John Day's river about sunrise. At noon they camped in the mountains, took the packages out, burnt the letters and papers and divided the treasure among them. Here witness separated from them taking his greenbacks and gold dust falling to his share and a watch he was wearing, which belonged to Shepardson. Witness went to Nelson on Butter creek the next day, thence to Birch creek, thence to Pendleton, thence to Walla Walla. Remaining at Walla Walla two or three days he went to Dayton and staid there a few days and left for Lewiston where he sold his share of the gold dust for about $600. At Lewiston he saw Shepardson and talked with him, and paid him $30 for the watch which was produced in court and identified by witness. He and Shepardson left Lewiston together and traveled in company one day but on the next witness left him and came on to Dayton again.

The cross examination of Phelps conducted by Mr Thompson of counsel for defense, was quite thorough and exhaustive as far as it proceeded but elicited nothing materially at variance with the substance of his evidence as given above. Pending the cross examination of Phelps, after the usual admonition to the jury, the court adjourned till 9 o'clock A M to-morrow.

CASCADE NOTES.

Our regular correspondent at the Cascades sends the following items under date of June 20th:

Gumboots and life preservers are in demand.

The high water has caused several of our residents to go to Portland where they expect to reside until the water recedes.

Everybody is preparing for Independence Day. A grand ball will take place on the evening of that day at the garrison provided the hall does not wash away.

Mr Udney Hamilton the young gentleman who had the misfortune to have a large threshing machine pass over his foot a few days ago, is again able to present his smiling phiz to his numerous friends.

Mr S B Jones conductor on the C R R, who has been confined to his bed for quite a while suffering from a severe attack of rheumatism, is rapidly recovering. A R McDonald Esq takes his place on the train during his illness.

The river at this place is said to be as high, or higher than it was in 1862. A large portion of the railroad at the Lower Cascades has been washed away and a large force of men are employed in weighting them down the bridges in order to prevent them from going away. The water is up to the O S N Co's shops and mess house. The wharf boat has been drawn so far up that cars cannot get near it, and consequently the Welcome has to land at the garrison.

SCHOOL EXAMINATIONS.

The examinations in the public schools will be held as follows to day:

GRAMMAR SCHOOLS

The Opposition Store folks have constructed the first Willamette bridge which the public can safely cross. They announce a limited supply of rubber boots which can be procured at moderate prices even if the demand is great.

If you have no spare cash to invest in tickets to the Philadelphia Centennial stay at home and enjoy your own. You can see big sights and buy clothing equally as cheap at Kohn's Emporium, First and Morrison streets. He keeps his stock full and of the best.

Mr Jason Royal, First street, between Yamhill and Taylor has opened a well assorted stock of ladies, gentleman's and children's shoes to which he invites the attention of our citizens. His aim is to provide the best at the very lowest price. Call and see his new stock.

Popular—the 'golden thread' cigar.

W L ADAMS M D, A M, LL D, corner of First and Salmon streets, is curing the most inveterate chronic diseases of all kinds at a low price by medicated electric lightning cream baths, and by combining the German and French with the American improved practice, mixed with a little common sense. His treatment is in the main entirely original and works almost miracles as his numerous patients will attest. A lady always in the office to assist in treating women.

CORNS AND BUNIONS.

Dr Halpruner treats corns, bunions, ingrowing nails, etc, at your residence or hotel. He can be advised through the postoffice or seen at his office and residence, corner Eighth and Market streets.

NOTES FROM SALEM.

SOCIAL, PERSONAL AND OTHERWISE

Our regular correspondent under date of June 20th sends the following:

The Dallas campmeeting was largely attended by Salemites Sunday last.

Theo Cartwright left Salem this morning for Antelope Valley where he has a large stock ranche.

Jerry Coldwell having resigned charge of the Mercury local column, Mr Bristow is attending to the matter himself.

J H Wells of Salem has been chosen orator of the day to assist in celebrating our great and glorious Fourth at Turner's Station.

H J Crooke has purchased the Wells property on Front street and M L Chamberlin has leased the Downer House on the same street.

Our College Club are elated over their victory over the Spartans of Vancouver at Oregon City but feeling the battle not half over they will attend assiduously to practice until after the Fourth of July.

Three parties were arrested here yesterday charged with breaking into some dwelling house a few miles in the country on Saturday last. Their trial is in progress this morning before Judge Peebles.

The friends of Eph Olinger will be pleased to learn he was honorably acquitted of the charge of assault with a dangerous weapon on the person of Wesley Graves of this city. His trial came off in the Circuit Court last Saturday, the jury being out but about fifteen minutes.

Grand Worthy Chief Templar W R Dunbar has appointed the following State deputies for the ensuing year: Col T H Cann, Salem; Jas A Smith, Portland; Rev J B N Bell, Ashland; Wm Russell, Weston; Capt O C Applegate, Lakeville; B H Allen, Halsey; T B Handley, Hillsboro; Asa Shreve, Dallas; and H W Grubbe, Wilbur. Other appointments will be made in due time.

"Whose pordrait was dot?" asked a Teuton of a friend as they were going through a picture gallery. "That? Henry Clay," was the reply. "Hendry Clay? Yes, to be sure, Henry Clay. O der great cigar man," said he, after a moment's reflection. The great store is Fishel & Roberts'.

You can get to Barnes' Central Market without donning rubber boots.

HEMORRHOIDS OR PILES.

IMMEDIATE RELIEF from the above distressing complaint and a CURE in a very short time as I remove the cause as well as the effect without interfering with the business of the patient by the WIGHTMAN PROCESS. THE OLD CANOE.

Where the rocks are gray and the shore is deep,
And the waters look dark and deep,
Where the ragged pine in its lonely pride,
Leans gloomily over the murky tide;
Where the reeds and rushes are long and lank,
And the weed grew thick on the winding bank;
Where the shadow is heavy the whole day through,
There lies at its moorings the old canoe.

The useless paddles are idly dropped,
Like a sea bird's wings that the storm has lopped,
And crossed on the railing, one o'er one,
Like the folded hands when the work is done,
While busily back and forth between
The spider stretches his silvery screen,
And the solemn owl with the dull "too-whoo,"
Settles down on the side of the old canoe.

The stern half sunk in the slimy wave,
Rots slowly away in its living grave,
And the green moss creeps o'er its dull decay
Hiding its mouldering dust away,
Like the hand that plants o'er the tomb a flower,
Or the ivy that mantles the falling tower;
While many a blossom of loveliest hue
Springs up o'er the stern of the old canoe.

The currentless waters are dead and still,
But the twilight wind plays with the boat at will,
And lazily in and out again
It floats the length of the rusty chain,
Like the weary march of the hands of time,
That meet and part at the noontide chime;
And the shore is kissed at each turning anew,
By the dripping bough of the old canoe.

Oh, many a time with ceaseless hand,
I have pushed it away from the pebbly strand,
And paddled it down where the stream runs quick,
Where the whirls are wild and the eddies are thick,
And laughed as I leaned o'er rocking side,
And looked below in the broken tide
To see that the faces and boats were two,
That were mirrored back from the old canoe.

But now, as I lean o'er the crumbling side,
And look below in the sluggish tide,
The face that I see there is graver grown,
And the laugh that I hear is a sober tone,
And the hands that look to the light skiff wings
Have grown familiar with sterner things;
But I love to think of the hours that sped
As I rocked at ease in the whirlaticwhitespray shed
Ere the blossom waved or the green grass grew
O'er the mouldering stern of the old canoe.

THE SALARY OF THE KING OF GREECE.

[Athens Correspondence of the Troy Times.]

A great hue and cry has been raised in the United States against the act of a former Congress increasing the salary of the President to $50,000. Of course that sum, with the present purchasing power of money, is not nearly equal to the $25,000 a year paid to the first Presidents; but, as Toots would say, that is of "no consequence, whatever," when a point is to be made by partisans who are struggling to gain power, whether by fair or foul means, no matter by which if the object sought for can only be accomplished. Fifty thousand dollars a year; this is a large sum of money, but is it too much for the service? There is not an executive head of any other nation of the least prominence that is paid so little. Here is this small kingdom. The King is paid how much would be the estimate of those who have clamored so vigorously against the salary of our President's salary? It is much less than is paid to kings of other small powers, and I do not say whether it is too much or too little for the support of a king in the way he is required or expected to maintain himself and his establishment. I will simply state the fact that King George has an allowance of £52,178 per annum, equivalent to $300,890 in gold. Of this sum England, France and Russia, the three "protecting Powers," contribute £4,000, or $20,000 each. The remainder is contributed directly from the Greek treasury. I am told that the King saves but a small portion of his income. The larger part of it goes to meet palace expenditures, maintain court officials, and pay the wages of a small army of servants required for the establishment. Besides that, he voluntarily pays out a large amount as pensions. I make no comment whatever upon the facts; it is enough simply to show how trifling is our President's salary compared to the large amount paid to the sovereign of one of the smallest of European kingdoms. The heads of other and richer nations are paid a great deal more.

GUTENBERG'S INVENTION.

Considered from a mechanical point of view, the merit of Gutenberg's invention may be inferred from its permanency. His type mould was not merely the first; it is the only practical mechanism for making types. For more than 400 years this mold has been under critical examination, and many attempts have been made to supplant it. Contrivances have been introduced for casting fifty or more types at one operation; forks waging types from cylindrical "dies upon the ends of copper rods; but experience has shown that these and other inventions in the field of type-making machinery are not better methods of making types. There is no better method than Gutenberg's. Modern type-casting machines have moulds attached to them which are more exact and more carefully finished, and which have many little attachments of which Gutenberg never dreamed, but in principle and in all the more important features, the modern moulds may be regarded as the moulds of Gutenberg.

"Why," says Madden, "should we speak of monuments of bronze or stone to commemorate the services of Gutenberg? His monument is in every quarter of the world; more frail than all, it is more enduring than all; it is the book."—Theo. L. De Vinne, in Scribner for May.

THE NOXIOUS GAS OF SEWERS.—A very simple and at the same time profitable contrivance for getting rid of the noxious gases of sewers, which is thus described, has been invented: "Connected with the main sewer is a pipe two inches in diameter, and at the top of the pipe is a ball, so fixed that it allows an aperture of a quarter of an inch all round, through which the sewer gas may escape from the pipe. Running up outside of the large pipe is an ordinary gas pipe, and just underneath the ball at the top of the sewer pipe a set of burners is so arranged that when lighted they make a complete circle of fire. The ball prevents the sewer gas from rising through the center, and it cannot escape through the flames, which entirely surrounds the aperture. The consequence is that the sewer gas mingles with the ordinary gas, and is consumed, adding it is - greatly to the brilliancy of the flame. The invention may be easily applied to the public lamps, and we are informed that a one inch pipe may be used and that the increase in the illuminating power that would be thus gained is enormous. Another advantage is that the ball and the upper part of the pipe quickly get intensely hot, and the heat draws the foul air from the sewers, leaving them perfectly free. The invention has been patented."

SPOTTED STOCKINGS—ANOTHER VICTIM.—Over a month ago Mrs. William G. Wade, of Edwardsville, Mo., purchased some fancy stockings at a well known dry goods house on Franklin avenue, St. Louis, for her little boy, only five years old. A few days afterward he was taken suddenly ill, without the least apparent cause, and a physician hastily summoned to the relief of the child. The doctor saw at once that the child had been poisoned, but how was a mystery to all. At last the new stockings were suggested, and upon the advice of the physician they were sent to a chemist for examination. The chemist discovered that the coloring in the stripes contained a large quantity of arsenic, and thus the child's illness was explained. Mrs Wade, with a true mother's feeling, at once informed the owner of the store where she had purchased the stockings, in order that he might stop their sale, and thus save other children whose parents might make the same mistake. For some weeks the child's recovery was doubtful, but a change for the better occurred night before last, and it is hoped that he will soon be able to be about.

THE SEA-SIDE HOUSE,

CLATSOP BEACH,

IS NOW OPEN FOR THE RECEPTION OF VISITORS.

J. C. OLMSTED.

BAY VIEW HOUSE,

BAKER'S BAY, UNITY, W. T.

MR. DEXTER INFORMS THE PUBLIC that his House is now open for the reception of guests. Its advantages in every respect over any other Summer Resort are too well known to Oregonians to repeat here. To strangers I will say that the place is in plain sight and across the Bay from Astoria, on the sheltered side of Cape Hancock, and every near and adjacent to the Portland Lighthouse, on Baker's Bay, a beautiful sheet of water, unequaled for Sailing, Rowing, Fishing and Bathing. The dark forest with its picturesque drives, its mountain springs, profusion of wild berries, wild flowers and ferns, the bored trail to the Cape for Equestrians or walkers, is one of the most delightful panoramas to the eye ever witnessed. The cosy beaches, its caves luxuriantly wooded Island, its views of Astoria, Chinook, Fort Stevens, moist old Tillamook in the blue distance.

The courteous hospitality of the officers of the Garrison at the Port, and also of Mr. Munson and family, of the Lighthouse, make that place well worthy of a visit.

The Salt Water Bathing in the bay within a few feet of the hotel, excels anything far or near, for warmth of the water and mildness of the waves, far preferable to the heavy surf and cold winds for women, children and invalids, while the sturdy swimmer or those who love the foaming surf, in a few minutes walk will find wheach unsurpassed in beauty, hard and level for one continuous drive of thirty miles. At this end are huge rocks stretching out into the ocean, from which fishers take from the sea, Bass, Rockfish, Tom Cod, Perch, etc., etc. Crabs, Clams Oysters, &c., in abundance, (and the Table will never lack a sufficiency of those desirable adjuncts.) Boats upon the Bay, Saddle Ponies for the children, Teams to the Weather Beach, Croquet, Swings, Quoits, etc., FREE to Guests.

Prices reduced from the old tariff.

To those who would like to camp out, wood and water and use of ground free; groceries, provisions, milk, eggs, butter, etc., for sale at a small profit. Campers can board at the Hotel if they prefer, at fair rates. A large Livery Stable, two new and fine Ten Pin Alleys, attached to the place.

Stage Office to Oysterville, Postoffice, Wells, Fargo & Co's Office also there. No raw winds or damp fogs, and more beautiful tracks and shady groves cannot be found. The only regret the Landlord has, is that his house is not larger; but his grounds are large enough and beautiful enough to warrant next season a Hotel worthy of the surroundings.

VALUABLE LANDS FOR SALE.

600,000 Acres in

EASTERN OREGON!

For Farming and Grazing Purposes.

THESE LANDS ARE SITUATED IN WASCO, Grant and Baker counties, and are offered for sale in small or large tracts, not less than 160 acres, as purchasers may desire. Here is afforded a most favorable opportunity to immigrants and settlers seeking homes and low priced land to acquire both on the most easy and favorable terms. These lands are excellent for farming and grazing. On most of the tracts no grubbing, or other preparation of the land for plowing is required. A growth of nutritious grass covers the uplands affording the best of pasturage, while in the valleys and bottom lands the grass can be mowed and made into hay. Living springs and streams water the lands in various directions. The uplands, or rolling lands, can be put in crops with the most satisfactory results. Fruit particularly peaches, plums, grapes, apples, pears and cherries, as well as the smaller fruits, can be grown in great abundance. The climate of Eastern Oregon is very healthful. Flourishing towns are located at convenient points for trade; the mails are regularly conveyed throughout that section, and a prosperous population is already established, or engaged in farming, stock growing, mining, and various other pursuits.

Terms as to price and time of payment, according to quality and quantity. Interest ten per cent on deferred payments.

4,000 ACRES, IN QUANTITIES TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

230 ACRES DUE SOUTH AND ADJOINING the Railroad Depot at Salem, all under cultivation, and suitable for grain or vegetables.

940 Acres, four miles southeast of Salem, on the railroad, with Mill creek running through it. This is the choicest farming land in Marion county, with living springs, consisting in part of the old Rector donation claim on which I raised the past year fifty bushels of wheat and three tons of timothy per acre. The first crop of oats ever raised on part of this land measured ninety four bushels per acre, grain weighed and ground chained by Mr. Alfred Stanton, of Salem.

2,700 Acres of prairie and light brush land, with timber for farming purposes, bounded by the Willamette River for four miles, beautiful lake on the east, boat landings all along the River, commencing four miles north of Salem—all choice grain land—the largest and most suitable body of land to be found in the Willamette Valley to be purchased by a colony. To be sold from $15 to $20 per acre. This land will all be immediately resurveyed and can be sold in larger or smaller parcels, to suit purchasers. It can be subdivided to the best possible advantage and I can offer many person or persons of colony of 10 or more, desiring to purchase homes in the best part of the Willamette Valley, near the city of Salem and within reach of the best social advantages, as well as most favorably located with respect to markets greater advantages, on more favorable terms than they can ever expect to realize again.
